

Bring your biomarkers to life. Full-service, custom-built assays.

We let YOUR science drive biomarker assay development.

Select your assay platform: EMD Millipore delivers:

- Luminex® systems
- ELISAs/RIAs
- Gyrolab™ workstation
- Leading partner for assay development
- More than a century of combined immunoassay development experience
- Full analytical validation
- Project-specific quality control
- High-throughput screening

Get the degree of customization you need:

- Combine existing assays from our broadest collection of analytes available.
- Receive complete protocols, analytical validation and all the reagents you need in a single kit.
- Got an antibody? We can conjugate it to xMAP beads and validate for your Luminex® system or your platform of choice.
- No antibody yet? We'll develop one for you, carefully choosing immunogen and appropriate screening and validation.

"Our research group has leveraged the capabilities of the EMD Millipore Custom Assay Development program on three separate occasions over the last five years. These collaborations were notable for pragmatic advice and design, efficiency, professionalism, and the delivery of a robust custom assay platform. We envision the need to design additional custom assays in the future and will certainly turn to this program again."

Types of work we do:

- Global, standardized bioanalysis for multi-site studies
- Customized quality control and assay validation to meet your project needs
- Add assays for new biomarkers to existing multiplex assay panels
- Design and develop bioanalytical studies to support your translational or investigational research
- ...and more!

Consult with our custom assay team to learn more about how our extensive assay design experience can be customized for your project needs.
